

How to Answer "Tell us why you are interested in this position"

1. Research the Position

Always before applying for a job interview, it's good to research the position you are applying for. Check whether it suits our career goals and objectives. If you are good in the position then only you can move on to apply for the position.

2. Research the company

Before going for the interview always research the company's objective and goals that they are trying to achieve from a new employer. You can visit the company's official website and check it on the About Us page or career page. It will make you comfortable and confident as you can know whether the objective and culture of the company suit you or not.

3. Structure your answer

After you've studied the company and job description as it associates with your background, condense and structure your answer in a similar way. While you can clearly write down your answer for the exercise, you should be ready to respond without information in front of you. Rather than reading it, memorize a couple of key points you like to address in your interview.

4. End your answer with a question

Always end your answer with a question so that can be a good conversation between you and the interviewer. After answering you can simply ask How many teams have to work with and How the work is going on? to have a good conversation between you and the interviewer.

Example

I am curious about this role because I think that I carry the skills and knowledge essential to be a successful supervisor. I have a strong knowledge of the principles of supervision.

I am confident in my capability to inspire and instruct a team. I am a good communicator who can make positive relationships with all of my employees.

I am extremely interested in this role because of the chance to work with a team of qualified and talented people in his company. I can assist in creating a positive and productive outcome environment on the construction site. I am eager to contribute to the success of the company.

I am confident that can create an important influence in this role. I am enthusiastic to get initiated.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Here are some of the qualities that I believe make me a good supervisor that you need to point out in your interview:

- a. I am a strong communicator.
- b. I can clearly articulate my expectations to employees.
- c. I am also able to listen to their concerns and feedback.
- d. I am a good motivator.
- e. I can create a positive and productive work environment.
- f. I can inspire employees to do their best work.
- g. I am a good leader who can make decisions and set priorities and can delegate tasks effectively.
- h. I am a good team player who loves to work collaboratively with others and can build positive relationships with all employees.
- i. I am sure that can utilize my skills and knowledge to be a successful supervisor in this role and lead team to the success.
- j. I am enthusiastic to get initiated and to contribute to the success of the team.

Thank you for your time and consideration.